The Restaurant Guys, New Jersey

Serious foodies are tuned in to central New Jersey, home to “The Restaurant Guys,” the ebullient hosts of a weekday radio show and owners of Stage Left and Carole Lombardi’s restaurants. Francis Schott and Mark Pascal have been plugging regional purveyors for years, but last August they went on the road with an inaugural Table to Farm Dinner. Held in the East Brunswick garden that supplies much of the restaurants’ heirloom tomatoes, squash, and herbs, the meal began with hand-muddled cocktails and continued (indoors, due to rain) with peach and basil soup, roasted suckling pig with sour cherries, and blueberry cobbler. The freshly plucked and shucked star in this summer’s series too (732-296-9463; restaurantguysradio.com; dinner, $129).
